CDM Electronics and Times Microwave Systems

Present Free Technical Seminars

Turnersville, NJ, November 5, 2015... CDM Electronics, an authorized stocking distributor of Times Microwave Systems, held free Times Microwave Technical Seminars on November 4th and November 5th at their Turnersville, NJ headquarters hosting nearly 50 participants. The Wednesday, November 4th session was a hands-on instructional workshop utilizing Times Microwave's LMR-series of coaxial RF cable and compatible connectors. The Thursday, November 5 seminar was an informational program defining the practical applications and utilization of Times Microwave's grounding and lightning protection line. Times also premiered their exclusive new line of Times-Protect® data line surge protectors that provide a unique level of performance for Ethernet protection. CDM Electronics' 14,000 square foot Williamstown, NJ facility is dedicated to inventorying and fulfillment of Times Microwave coaxial cable, connectors and accessories. CDM will be emailing registration information for the next free technical classes.
