CDM Electronics Announces Authorized Distributorship For Amphenol Nexus Technologies

Turnersville, NJ, August 1, 2022... CDM Electronics has announced an agreement with Amphenol Nexus Technologies to stock and distribute tactical communications interconnects at their Turnersville, NJ location.

Amphenol Nexus Technologies, a subsidiary of Amphenol Corporation, is one of the world's leading suppliers of interconnect products for military, public safety and commercial communications applications. CDM will be an authorized stocking distributor for Amphenol Nexus Technology's QPL'd MIL-DTL-55116 series, the all-new Ranger line, the groundbreaking miniaturized TAC range and unique waterproof breakaway connector group.

With the inclusion of the Amphenol Nexus Technologies line, CDM will have over 300 different tactical communications interconnects available to support virtually every military and public safety radio platform. Anticipated combined inventory will have over 80,000 tactical communications connectors in stock at CDM's 130 American Boulevard location.

CDM will be making further announcements regarding connector availability and inventory status or go to CDM's Amphenol Nexus Technologies web page to subscribe for email updates.
