Turnersville, NJ, February 26, 2025... CDM Inc., a full line distributor of interconnect products, manufacturer of engineered cable assemblies and manufacturer of fabricated metalworks, has announced that the company is set to exhibit at AUSA (Association of the United States Army) Global Force Symposium and Exhibition in Huntsville, Alabama from March 25th to March 27th, 2025. The event will take place at the Von Braun Center, where CDM will be located in the South Hall (main hall) in Booth #108. CDM will also be debuting their all-new, 100-square-foot booth that features a large display case, 50-inch screen displaying their latest product videos, easy-to-reach cable sample shelves and vibrant branding on all sides. Along with their new booth, CDM will be showcasing examples of their engineered cable assembly expertise, as well as the latest in mil-spec and QPL'd RF, Tactical Communications and Power interconnects.

"CDM Inc. is proud to be a first-time exhibitor at AUSA Global Force Symposium and Exhibition in Huntsville, Alabama," said CDM's Director of Sales, Shannon O'Neill. "We have attended the show many times and are continually impressed by the level of professionalism and breadth of attendees that contribute to all aspects of our niche business." Shannon also discussed the importance of this show in particular for CDM "This will be our inaugural show as CDM Inc. (formerly CDM Electronics) where our overarching message is to be your all-encompassing partner for interconnect distribution, engineered cable assemblies and fabricated metalworks. I hope this entices the audience to check us out and learn how we can partner with their company to achieve one universal goal; supporting the warfighter."

Along with Shannon O'Neill, CDM will be sending Christina Harrison (General Manager of Distribution), Bill Almon (Vice President of Sales and Marketing) and Joe McGurk (Outside Sales Territory Account Manager – Mid-Atlantic) to AUSA to represent their company. CDM's proud partner, Times Microwave, will also be sending special guests Tony Fedor and Kevin Moyher to demonstrate and answer any questions regarding high-performance mil-spec coaxial cables, connectors, and installation techniques.
